Cazort Withdraws For Brooks Hays Attacks Parnell

Lieut. Governor Springs Political Sensation Wednesday

WANTS 2-MAN RACE

Cazort Thinks Hays Is Man To Beat Governor Parnell

Lieutenant-Governor Lee Cazort withdrew from the governor's race last night and said he would support Brooks Hays in the campaign against Harvey Parnell.

Mr. Cazort's statement was the first sensational development of the 1930 primary race, and clearly indicates the contest for governor will be one of the hardest-fought campaigns in recent years.

Wants Two-Man Race

In his announcement, given to Little Rock newspapers and the Associated Press last night, Mr. Cazort simply said that it was his desire to see a two-man campaign which would give the voters a clear choice for governor, that he entered the campaign with this in mind, and was withdrawing in the belief that the five-cornered race which has now developed can only mean re-election of Governor Parnell.

Mr. Cazort's retirement is universally understood to mean a new alignment of factions in the governor's campaign. The lieutenant-governor was one of three well known candidates, the other two being Mr. Hays and Governor Parnell. Although four candidates remain in the field, one is a negligible, and the other an uncertain, political factor. Thornberry Gray, the man who "discovered" the lieutenant-governor's office, is not taken very seriously as a candidate for governor. The other man, Judge John C. Sheffield of Helena, is reputed to be a power in Phillips county politics, but what he will do in the larger arena of state politics, remains doubtful.

The withdrawal of Mr. Cazort in favor of Brooks Hays is taken in many quarters to mean that the gubernatorial fight is reduced practically to the status of a two-man race, Parnell versus Hays, many observers believing that Judge Sheffield can not get before the voters adequately enough to be a dangerous candidate between now and August 12.

This would serve the avowed purpose of M. Cazort in quitting the campaign, to consolidate the factions opposed to the administration in a single candidate, Mr. Hays.

Cazort's Statement

In his statement last night at Little Rock Mr. Cazort said: "No citizen should fail, in his loyalty to Arkansas, to sacrifice his own personal ambitions for what he conceives to be the best interest of this state. Such a time has arrived in my political life.

"When I entered the race for governor I had hoped that I could engage single-handedly against this administration. I believe that the people are in overwhelming disapproval of the profligate waste and utter disregard of the people's rights by this administration. I realize that never before in the history of the state has an administration so arrogantly built up the different departments of state into a selfish political machine. I know when I announced for the office of governor that if the administration were successful it must be through the splitting up of the votes by their opposition. I think there are few people today who believe that under the present conditions it would be possible for the people to say who is their choice for governor. I think the time has arrived for personal ambition to give way to patriotism and I intend to lead the way.

"As rumormongers in the 1928 gubernatorial primary, I believe Brooks Hays can win this election by my withdrawal from this race. His educational and personal attainments are all that a proud state can desire in a governor. His desire to serve his fellow-man is fully evidenced by his past life. I am convinced that he is sincerely against the action and policies of this administration and will give Arkansas a new deal in government, if elected.

"I drop out of this race with reluctance, hoping that some day my state will appreciate my personal sacrifice at this time. I intend to support Brooks Hays actively in his race.

"My withdrawal from the gubernatorial nomination contest will have no effect on my effort to initiate and secure the adoption of a constitutional amendment providing for an elective state Highway Commission and audit of Highway Department records. I shall continue to do everything possible to bring about this condition and have not the slightest doubt that such measures will meet with approval of the people."

Airplane Cuts Capers By Itself

Fliers Each Believe Other Has Control; Land Safely

CLEVELAND, May 15.—Every time Henry L. Gabriel thinks of this little incident his faith in Providence is renewed.

Gabriel, a wartime student flyer, went aloft in a dual-control plane the other day, with an army pilot. According to previous arrangements, when the army pilot had climbed the ship to an altitude of 2,000 feet, Gabriel took the "stick."

"Shucks!" thought Gabriel. "He doesn't trust me. He's taking the stick himself."

So Gabriel leaned back in the cockpit and sulked. Whereupon the ship went through an amazing series of gyrations. It spun, spiraled, did wing-overs and barrelrolls in rapid succession. Gabriel sat tight. "Hal!" he pondered. "This guy's trying to scare me."

A hundred feet from the ground the ship suddenly straightened out and glided to a smooth landing.

"Well," Gabriel inquired, as he clambered out, "Was I so terrible?"

"You were okay!" said the pilot. "But you sure had me scared with those stunts you did. You had me so nervous I took the controls myself about a hundred feet up. I was afraid to let you land her."

New Cotton Co-Op Offers Contracts At Minimum Cost

Mid-South Association Is Formed For Federal Farm Board

A POWERFUL GROUP

To Guarantee Handling Won't Cost Over $2.50 Per Bale

The Mid-South Cotton Growers' Association, the newest of the cotton co-operatives, is another step which has been taken to provide more efficient cotton marketing services to cotton growers in Arkansas. This cooperative association was organized at Memphis on March 21, after several weeks of careful consideration of the proposed plan by cotton growers, cooperative officials, members of the Federal Farm Board, and others interested in bringing greater returns to cotton growers.

There were many details to the plan as originally proposed which had to be changed to make it best adapted to the needs of growers in Arkansas. Dean Dan T. Gray, of the College of Agriculture, and official of the existing cotton Association spent almost a week in Washington conferring with members of the Farm Board on these things and eliminating objectionable features. The plan was presented to cotton growers and others interested in cotton growing at a meeting in Little Rock on March 26. About 350 men, representing the cotton growing counties of Arkansas, approved the plan; and the following day an application was filed for a charter for the Mid-South Cotton Growers' Association.

This organization will serve cotton growers in Arkansas—South-east Missouri, and Tennessee. The cotton co-operatives now functioning in these states will continue in existence, but are expected to contract with the Mid-South for the services now performed by these associations. This is expected to provide means for concentrating

Widow, 101, "Dies" But Later Comes Back to Life

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, May 15.—(AP)—The attorney general Wednesday was asked to cancel a death certificate for Juana Gonzalez, a 101-year-old widow who refused to stay dead.

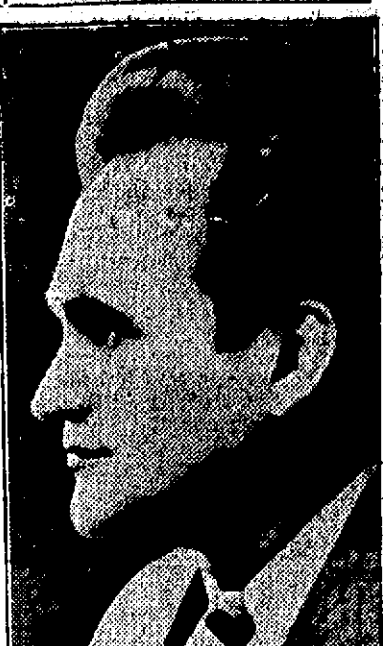

Her two grandsons reported to the clerk of the civil registry at Guaynabo that their grandmother had breathed her last. They then went to buy a casket. Five hours later they found her revived and much alive.

A physician told the registry clerk that Senora Gonzalez still was living but the clerk, already having issued a death certificate, could find no law permitting the cancellation of such a certificate. It is held here that a legal opinion or even legislation may be necessary.

Ritchie Is Closed By Lazarus Death

Pay Respects to Late Treasurer at Home in Camden

CAMDEN, May 15.—Abe Lazarus, 66, prominent Camden citizen and leader in business and civic affairs for many years, was found dead on a bed at his home late Tuesday afternoon with a bullet wound through the heart. A small caliber pistol was found on the floor near the body. The body was found by the negro cook who had been in the kitchen and heard the shot. When she rushed into the room she found Mr. Lazarus on the bed dead. The cook and her son, the yard boy, had been with Mr. Lazarus earlier in the afternoon and he had dismissed them. The boy had been sent on an errand and on returning heard the shot. Both said that Mr. Lazarus had seemed in good spirits and had been reading. There was nothing to indicate premeditation.

Physicians were notified and on making an examination stated that death had been almost instantaneous. The examination showed that the bullet had pierced the heart.

No reason was ascribed for Mr. Lazarus' act, although it was stated that he had been in ill health for some time and that he had been unable to leave his home since Saturday. Funeral services were held at 3 o'clock this afternoon, at the First Methodist church, officiated by the church officials as a mark of respect, there being no Jewish synagogue here.

The services were conducted by Rabbi Abram Brill of Shreveport, La., who was assisted by the Rev. H. W. Griffin, pastor of the Methodist church, and Rev. C. E. Guice, pastor of the First Presbyterian church.

Interment was in the Jewish cemetery here. Mr. Lazarus was one of the oldest business men in this section of the state, and was a leader in all civic affairs of Camden for many years. He and the late Capt. John C. Ritchie were the founders of the Ritchie Grocery company, one of the largest and oldest wholesale grocery concerns in the southwest. The business was founded in 1888 and Mr. Lazarus had served as secretary and treasurer since its organization. The company has approximately 20 branch houses in Arkansas and Louisiana.

Mr. Lazarus was one of the largest stockholders in the grocery company and his associates stated he carried approximately $270,000 life insurance.

He had lived here all his life. He was born in Camden, July 7, 1863, and had lived here all his life. He was a leader in all civic affairs of the city, a member of the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce and took an active part in the up-building of the city. He had also been a member of the school board for many years and was president of the board. The recently completed high school was named in his honor.

He was a member of the Rotary club, the Elks and the Woodmen of the World, and was active in boys' work in the city and section.

Mr. Lazarus is survived by his wife, who was Miss Rosa Lasser of Little Rock, whom he married, April 21, 1904, at New Orleans; one brother, Dan Lazarus of New York city; and three sisters, Mrs. Nora Shyer, Mrs. Stella Cross and Mrs. Ruth Shyer, all of Nashville, Tenn.

The entire chain of Ritchie Grocery houses are closed today on account of the death of Abe Lazarus at Camden. Those who are connected with the concern here and who will be present at his funeral this afternoon are Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Smyth, C. S. Walker, J. R. Floyd, H. L. Hanagan, A. F. Hanagan, B. H. Buchanan, T. E. Spragins, P. H. Webb, J. M. Rider.

30 Contracts Are Awarded for Road, Bridge Projects

Contracts In Hope-Prescott District Involves $44,220.32

7 BRIDGE PROJECTS

Bridge At Clarendon Largest Single Project Ever Let By Commission

LITTLE ROCK, May 15.—(AP)—Thirty contracts for highway and bridge construction in 32 counties, including the million and a half dollar state owned toll bridge at Clarendon over White river, 178 miles of highways and five lesser bridges were awarded by the state highway commission for approximately $2,700,000.

Contracts for construction of the Clarendon bridge which is the largest single project ever let by the commission, was awarded to the Austin Bridge company on a bid of $1,532,573.50. The Dallas firm was one of ten bidders for the project.

Twenty-three road projects for the building of 178 miles of highway and seven bridge projects, were involved in the letting today. Included in the Clarendon project 28,232 feet of bridge work is to be done under the contract awarded today. The bridge is four miles long with two and one-half miles of approaches, and with one and one-half miles of concrete work.

Construction contracts in the Hope-Prescott district were concentrated on highway No. 67, Broadway of American route. Britt & DeLaughter, of Beightown, were awarded contract in the amount of $44,220.32 for seven miles of grading and drainage structures and 105 feet of reinforced concrete bridge on the Prescott-Little Missouri river road, No. 67.

Another contract on the same highway was let to J. S. Young, of Texarkana, in the sum of $39,500.08, for two miles of grading on the Prescott-Gurdan road.

Many of the other contracts awarded today concerned No. 70, the Little Rock-Memphis road, in east Arkansas.

Indict Undertaker Helper for Murder

Leslie Cooper May Be Tried for Slaying Paul Hunter Next Month

TEXARKANA, May 15.—Leslie Cooper, aged 21, was indicted for murder charges by the Bowie county grand jury at Boston Wednesday in connection with the killing May 3 of Paul Hunter, 23, in a Texarkana undertaking establishment.

Cooper has been at liberty since shortly after the killing. The quarrel which led to the shooting never has been explained. The two were employed at the undertaking establishment and had been good friends. Cooper was said to have been drinking.

Other indictments returned by the grand jury included three charges of auto theft, two indictments charging cattle theft, 23 indictments for alleged chicken thefts, and eight for alleged violations of the liquor laws.

The 23 chicken theft indictments are against George Griffin, Texarkana, white man, and four negroes. It is alleged that Griffin has been in the wholesale chicken theft business for several months, and that the three negroes were employed by him to rob chicken roosts. Chicken theft is a felony under Texas law.

District Attorney Waters said last night the trial date in the Cooper murder case probably will be some time in June. The court is expected to set the date next Monday.

Sheriff Says Little Improvement in 1930 Model Whisky Stills

JONESBORO, May 15.—(AP)—"1930 Model," proclaimed a large sign over an Arkansas moonshine still recently seized in the Missouri-Arkansas state line area by raiding officers of the two states.

The new model showed no improvements over other stills, the sheriff said.

Camden Man Prefers Steamboating to the Movies of Hollywood

CAMDEN, Ark., May 15.—(AP)—"Cap'n Sam" Cotton prefers a mate's berth on a river steamer to a hero's laurel in Hollywood, Roughly speaking, he has had both.

"Cap'n Sam," bulky, stern and of slightly "hard-boiled" appearance, first officer of the river packet Quachita playing regularly between Camden and New Orleans, has no very high opinion of a motion picture hero.

"Steamboating may be rough, but I'll stick to it in preference to the movies," avers Mr. Cotton.

Several years ago motion picture goers might remember a formidable appearing mate in a motion picture recording the hey-day of river steamboating days. It was entitled, "The Fighting Coward." The "hard-boiled" one was "Cap'n Sam."

It will be remembered that Mr. Cotton scowled his way through the picture in villainous abandon, and in one scene boosting a negro roustabout over the side with a dignity born of practice.

In real life—not real life—Cotton is far from being so formidable. Business is business, of course, but to his crew and to the negro roustabouts "Cap'n Sam" is a "swell boss."

Of his fellow actors in his only acting adventure, Cotton holds highest regard for Earnest Torrence, who played a leading "heavy" role.

"Moving pictures may be alright," repeated amiable Mr. Cotton, "but I prefer steamboating."

Melon Meeting To Draw 60 Tonight

Farmers and Local Men Meet at the Barlow at 7:45

Forty-four tickets for the Watermelon supper at 7:45 o'clock tonight in Hotel Barlow had been sold by Hope Chamber of Commerce up to noon today.

Total attendance is expected to run close to 60 persons. The tickets are being sold to local business men who have invited Hempstead county melon growers here as their guests tonight. Forty-five farmers have been listed as guests, and from present indications at least two-thirds will attend the supper.

No formal program has been arranged for the supper, which will merely offer an opportunity for a roundtable discussion of the annual Watermelon Festival and what the city and county expect to do with it this year. No local organization appears willing to sponsor the show for 1930, and an effort may be made to form a permanent association which will take charge of the annual event.

Man Succumbs to Pistol Wounds

Herman Vocker, Shot By Night Prowlers, Dies In Hospital

MORRILTON, May 15.—(AP)—Shot by one of two masked men when he surprised them robbing the parish church here on the night of April 27, Herman Vocker, died in a hospital today. Vocker was shot by one of the robbers, and has been unconscious much of the time since.

Vocker had gone up stairs to his room in the parish house to retire when he heard a noise in the office at about 10 p. m. Armed with a pistol he went down and encountered the two robbers. One of them flashed a light on Vocker and the other fired at him.

The robbers dropped a sack of money in their flight from the building. A reward of $150 was offered for their capture. Officers have no clues to the identity of the two men.

School Election To Be Held Here Saturday, May 17

Citizens Will Vote For One Member of the County Board

REVENUE IS ISSUE

Nearly Half of Arkansas Counties Vote 18-Mill Tax

The electors of Arkansas will assemble at the various following places in the different school districts of Arkansas Saturday, May 17, to express their interest in public education.

The annual school election is one of the most important elections in which citizens engage. At this election the people select the school directors, the individual who administers the school affairs for the children of the different school units. At this time the people select a member of the County Board of Education who will serve for a period of five years. Larger school units have increased the duties and responsibilities of County Board members. It is at this election that the people vote upon the payment of a tax, which produces school revenue to the amount of $7,000,000 annually. This money is used to build, equip and maintain free schools for Arkansas' 600,000 children of school age.

The citizens of Arkansas have shown their belief and interest in public education by raising at different times the constitutional limit for free school purposes. By their votes they have raised the constitutional limit from five mills to seven mills from seven mills to twenty mills from twelve mills to eighteen mills. The present limit for all school purposes is 18 mills.

The percentage of school districts voting the maximum tax has been increasing annually. In 1927 55.7 per cent of all the school districts voted the maximum tax; in 1928 54.1 per cent voted the limit; in 1929 52.1 per cent voted the limit. In 1930 50.1 per cent voted the limit. The distinction of 100 per cent of its school districts voting the maximum tax, three counties show that the people of Arkansas believe in Arkansas' public schools and are willing to support them. The records show that practically all of the larger and wealthier districts vote the constitutional limit for school purposes. The records also show that some of the counties that have the largest number of weak districts voting no tax or a low rate of tax.

It is expected by those who have studied school conditions and public school interest in Arkansas, that highest per cent of the school districts will vote the maximum school tax in the coming election in the history of the state. The weaker school districts will vote an 18-mill tax so they can participate in the School Equalizing Fund. The stronger districts will vote the maximum tax to they will be able to maintain their present standard of free school facilities.

classing service with immediate settlement to members will be provided. will be set up at points where the directors of the association find there is a sufficient volume of cotton coming to the association to justify this service. This offers an opportunity for larger cotton centers in Arkansas to provide a new and efficient cotton marketing service in their town to serve cotton growers in the surrounding territory.

When the volume of cotton moving through a branch association is sufficient to justify a separate cooperative association, the by-laws of the Mid-South provide that a separate association may be set up there if approved by the Director of Extension and a majority of members of the area. This feature makes it possible for any locality to develop its cooperative marketing interest to a point where it may have a separate cooperative cotton association affiliating directly with the American Cotton Cooperative association. It will be necessary for at least 50,000 bales of cotton to move into the cooperative from one area before this separate association may be established. It is possible and entirely probable that the volume of cotton marketed cooperatively may grow to the point in the next few years until there are several of these associations at points in Arkansas, particularly as such concentration points as Pine Bluff and Blytheville.

Low Cost Assured

The contract of the Mid-South with its members provides for keeping down costs to the members. It states specifically that costs of marketing, exclusive of interest, storage, insurance, and other costs that must follow the cotton, shall not be more than $2.50 per bale when as many as 50,000 bales are shipped to the association in any one year. The volume should be greatly in excess of this every year.

The contract will run for ten years.

Senate Hearings on Naval Pact Opened

that approval to the Mid-South Cotton Growers' association and the Cotton Credit Corporation. The advantage of the Federal Farm Board offers to cotton growers in marketing their crop will come to them through this organization. The success of the organization is in the hands of the cotton growers. It is expected to increase the returns to the members for the cotton marketed through it. The cotton is of good quality. Growers having inferior cotton will probably find it more profitable to sell on the local markets where "hog row" buying is practiced rather than to sell through the association. It is the intention of the officials of the Mid-South to render a service to cotton growers which will permanently increase the interest in the association. This is a step in the permanency of cooperative marketing of cotton which will serve cotton growers in the states concerned in proportion to their support of this cooperative. There is every reason to have renewed confidence in cooperative marketing and this particular plan which has been worked out. It is a part of the Farm Board plan, and the Federal Government is fully behind the undertaking.

NEW COTTON CO-OP.

A larger volume of cotton in one cooperative and to make possible the reduction of many handling charges so that larger returns and more services may be possible for the cotton growers who are members of the cooperative associations in the three states will be given an opportunity to transfer their membership in the Mid-South without payment of a membership fee if this transfer is made before June 1 of this year.

Present Management Temporary

The management of the Mid-South will be under the direction of eleven directors. At present, there are six directors: four from Arkansas, four from Tennessee, and one from Missouri. The original Board of Directors has been appointed by the cooperative associations in each state, but an election will be held in June when the membership will elect the directors, which will set up the permanent organization and start plans to market this year's cotton crop. The director of Extension, or a representative designated by him, from each of the three states will serve as a public director and have full authority as a director, except the right to vote.

H. H. Naff of Portland, Ark., a large and successful cotton grower, who is a director and member of the Executive Committee of the Arkansas Cotton Growers' Cooperative Association, has been elected president of the Mid-South. E. A. Harrold, a Tennessee cotton grower, is vice-president. B. S. Burgess, is Secretary and A. B. Stewart, Treasurer of the Arkansas Association, is Treasurer of the new Mid-South Association. These officers are to serve until the election of the new Board of Directors in June, at which time permanent officers will be selected.

The Mid-South Growers' Association is to be a member of the American Cooperative Association along with the other cotton cooperatives of How far perhaps they rue it.

Girl Who Shot Self Longs to See Dolls

RUSSELLVILLE, May 14.—Ruth Tomlinson, 11-year-old orphan of Belleville, who shot herself last Wednesday probably will recover, according to two physicians who are attending her at St. Mary's hospital in Russellville.

Ruth lives with an aunt and uncle, who were working in the field at the time the child shot herself. She seems anxious to get well and get back to her dolls. Her dolls seem to have been her greatest pleasure. They are the Kewpie kind and stand in a row on her dresser at home, she says. She had a "real" doll once, she continued to the reporter, but she gave it to a cousin.

"I think dolls are so pretty," she smiled as she closed her eyes, content with this vivid speculation. The girl shot herself, she told relatives and visitors because she was "not good looking."

Blaine's Suspicious Eye Scans Postoffice Leases

WASHINGTON, May 14.—(AP)—The senate committee investigating postoffice leases has decided to turn the searchlights on, one at a time, the 1,200 buildings it costs the government $15,770,000 annually to use and in which stockholders from coast to coast have $150,000,000 invested. Senator Blaine, republican, Wisconsin, chairman of the committee, has leveled charges of fraud and culpable negligence at the postoffice department and expressed the opinion that the bonds may have been sold to the public on inflated values. It is his plan, Blaine says, to scan all the leases and lay aside any that may appear questionable. Once through the list, he will return to the segregated contracts, call witnesses and if their evidence warrants, have it incorporated in a report he expects to make to congress in December.

"We are not," he says, going to jump into this without a definite program and make the mistakes committed by most investigating committees. "When we call a witness we are going to have pretty good reason to believe he will have something to tell us. This will be an unimpassioned, businesslike investigation." The other members of the committee are Senators Hastings of Delaware and Herbert of Rhode Island, republican "regulars" and Senators Hayden of Arizona and George of Georgia, democrats. An indication of the political issue the investigation may become is seen in the charge by Jovett Shouse, chairman of the democratic national executive committee, that the Minn. commercial station led to the investigation was a "able fraud" continued through republican administrations.

A Study In Contrasts.

WE don't often realize the extent to which modern machinery has eliminated the worst forms of drudgery from human society until we bump into an object lesson taken from the dim past.

In the Chinese province of Szechuan there is the world's oldest oil field; a field where oil has been taken from the earth for the past 2000 years. It should be explained that the oil is only by-product; what is really being sought is salt, and for 20 centuries or more the Chinese have been pumping brine up from wells that dot the whole province, using the natural gas that also comes up from the shafts to evaporate the brine and treating the oil purely as a rather unimportant by-product.

Now the interesting thing about this great salt-mining industry is the way in which primitive, back-breaking labor methods are still being used.

Everything is done just as it was 200 years ago. The entire operation is done by hand labor, including the drilling of the wells, the pumping and the construction of machinery. Fully a million men are employed, and the average wage runs between 15 and 25 cents a day. The wells vary in depth from a few yards to more than 3500 feet.

Doubtless it can be imagined that with all the word done by hand, some of the processes are extremely slow. It has taken whole decades to drill some of the deeper wells.

All of the equipment is made of bamboo—everything from pipe lines to drilling cable. Indeed, a special bamboo plantation is maintained to supply the wood for this purpose. All of the machinery, of course, is turned out by laborious hand labor, just as it was many centuries ago.

Picture what modern machinery would do to an industry like that! Steel would replace the bamboo. Wells that now take many years to drill would be drilled in a few weeks. Gasoline and steam engines would drive the pumps, and the weary armies of coolies would cease to be mere beasts of burden and would have a chance to live normal, human lives. And—can you imagine the workers in a modern industrial plant putting up with wages of 25 cents a day?

The contrast is striking. It illustrates clearly the way in which modern machinery is making back-breaking toil of the traditional, age-old type unnecessary.

This District Fading

SEVEN counties in and around Garland, in this census report, now complete, and six of them show a decrease in population over the census of ten years ago. Garland county showed an increase of about 10,000, most all of that increase in Hot Springs, and that increase in our city and county, brings the census of the seven counties to a very nominal sum. Except for the material increase in this city report, the seven counties of this district would show a decrease in population.

When people are making up summaries and going over things they had better keep this in mind. Something is wrong in six counties when within ten years not one of them but shows a decreased population. And that fact in a decade when most of the country is reflecting growth and progress.

We do not pretend to say why it is that six of our neighboring counties are the decline. More people have moved out of these counties than moved in. Some must have moved in. Many must have moved out.

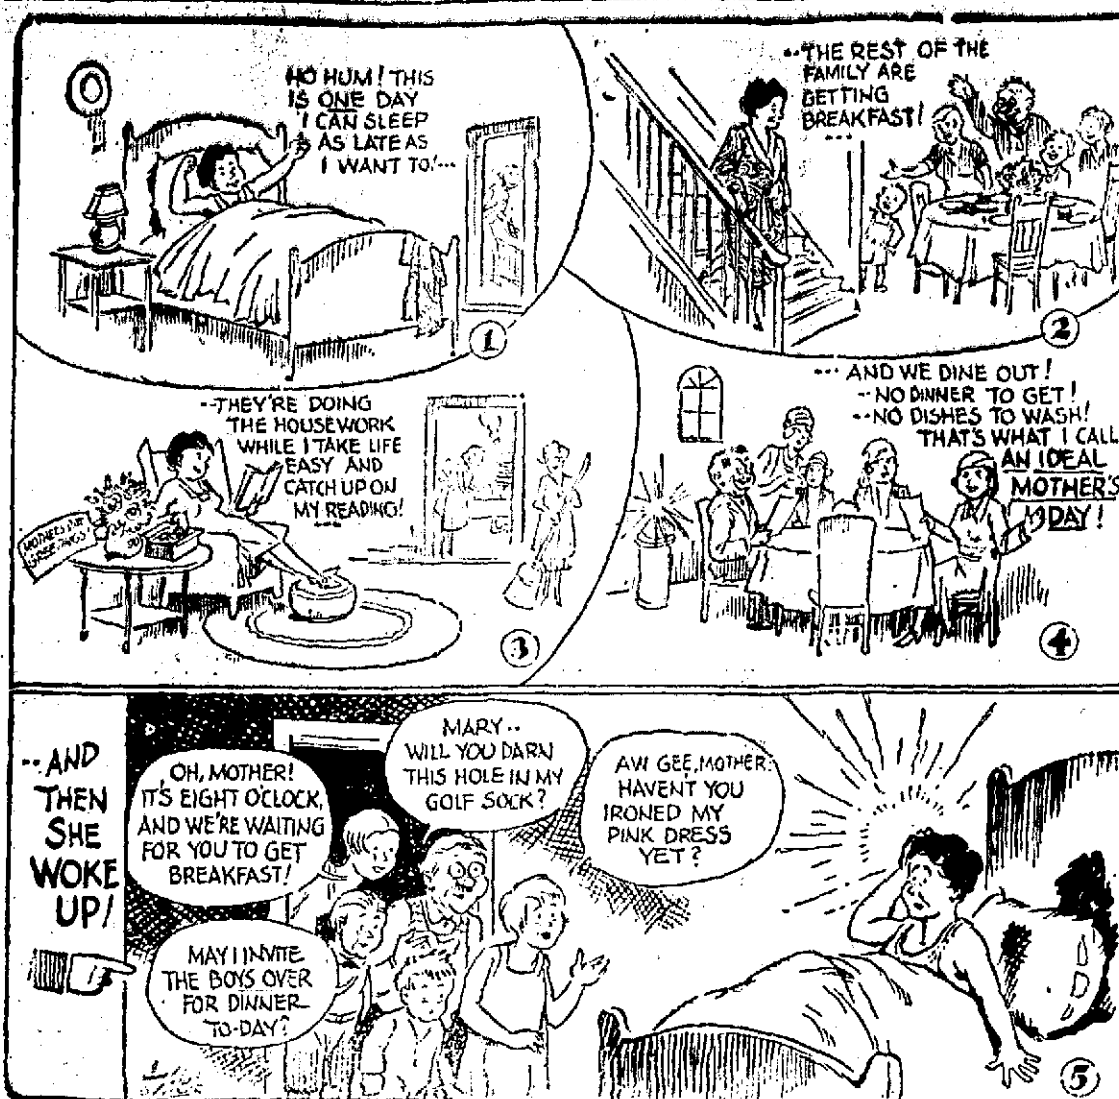

There is something wrong, and the leading citizens of these counties might well get busy and find out what is the matter. Is it the oppressive tax system in the state? Or is it that the counties offer nothing for home building? What could be the matter?—Hot Springs Sentinel-Record.

Thomas A. Edison says this about depressions: I have been through five depressions during my business life. They all act alike. The men who, if business fell off 66 per cent increased their selling efforts 75, managed to pull through, as if there were no depression, and the efforts of such men tend to shorten the periods of depressions.

In every big firm there are the Quick and the Dead. There are the all-alive, keen, progressive men and there are the standstills, who say "No" to every good suggestion. This struggle between the go-heads and the pullbacks makes a bad mess of many a balance sheet. My advice is, bury the Dead and get into step with the Quick.—Herbert N. Casson.

You are a success if you can focus your attention on a task and hold it there until that task is completed, whether it be building a mouse trap or a battleship.—R. L. Hubbs.

A Mother's Mother's Day Dream!

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is one of the most interesting and significant things heard at the annual U. S. Chamber of Commerce meeting in Washington. These are especially timely because of the current interest in the business situation.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

WASHINGTON—Aviation is no longer a romance, but a business.

"It's getting out of clouds and fog—economic, financial, technical and emotional, if not yet free from physical," says W. Irving Bullard, chairman of the committee on aeronautics of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Bullard, who is treasurer of a manufacturing company in Danielson, Conn., explained the present status of the aviation industry to a group of business men during the chamber's annual meeting here.

Recovering From Depression

"Adventurous glamour is about over," he declared. "Adventure or risk is virtually gone. We rightly think of Lindbergh now as a super-expert adviser. The technical questions are now, as with locomotive and automobile, largely matters of refinement. If non-sensationally measured we're well assured of safety. No one, however lacking in air-mindedness, can deny speed and the shortest distance between two points to the air. And the air industry, like most others, is recovering rapidly from those air pocket shots of last fall in Wall Street."

Bullard did not suggest that the public had decided there wasn't much more glamour in aviation; apparently he was speaking from the viewpoint of the men in the industry.

"The industry has been getting shaken down, like the other new industry of radio, into right adjustment with economic law," he continued.

"It has had three marvelous years of technical expansion, with much more sure to come. But also some indisputable over-optimism and inevitable errors. The American public, if slow to fly, wasn't slow to take a flyer. It has supplied, and will supply, ample capital. The sole question is just how it will be used."

"Here is where human judgment must enter for the best planning and performance, to provide the best planes, the best pilots, the best ports, the best routes, for the surest all-around profitable service. Otherwise the great gift of air-line speed will lose in value. More deficits might cripple the industry."

"We have made notable progress, but not enough. Some optimists expected 12,000 planes to be built in 1929. We made 6034, worth $45,000,000."

"Present manufacturing capacity is 25,000 planes per year. Such totals loom large when we think back to Lindbergh and the Wrights; yet they are still small for 125,000,000 people."

"Last year 150,000 passengers were carried, 7,700,000 pounds of mail and 2,000,000 pounds of express. It is a striking showing when matched against zero so few years ago. Yet the industry is still embryonic."

Passenger fares present a vital question, according to Bullard. What can the air traffic bear?

Already, he said, results had appeared from the "notable and daring experiment at the start of the year in cutting fares as low as or below cross-country rail charges."

HOOKS & SLIDES

by William Braucher

Spill of Sande

SANDE is back in the saddle, and for all the other riders who hope to go anywhere in the big stake races of the near future, this means just one word: trouble!

Johnny Melvin Knight, who is better than a green hand at booting them in, once told me that a year in which Sande has the legs of a horse is more than a race, it's like getting the third degree.

"If you are away to a good start on your mount," said Mel, "you are wondering where Sande is. You are wondering how long it will be before you see him pushing his way up and down at your elbow.

"If you are ahead of you you wonder if it will be possible to catch him. If you are alongside of him, you wonder if he is in a pocket. At the time, when he is going to make a break to crawl out, you wonder if he will go about it. He's just out there riding, trying to catch the winner or to leave others behind. He uses his hands and he's got a good one to boot."

Knows When to Bat

SANDE is one of those jocks who call hand-riders, isn't it, asked Knight.

"Yes, he's a hand-rider, but he often seen him go to the bat. He was up on Zev in the Derby in 1928. He got away in front in that race. Zev is a stunner, you know, and the other kind of got the idea that after he had gone three-quarters he would start falling back.

"On the far turn, people were leaning over the rail so far that they could have reached out and grabbed the rail. Sande was hugging the rail, but when he saw those faces pushed out at him, he swerved. Zev sharply. It was when you have to swerve. It changes the horse off stride, and you lose a lot of valuable ground.

"Martingale was right behind him, and when Zev swerved, he tried to rush through next to him. Nassau, the favorite, was moving up on the outside.

Starts to Falter

ZEV started to lose his stride. When a horse like Zev is hitting on all four, he is jumping more than he's running—it's a rhythmic bound. Sande

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

SAM LANGFORD is a good judge of cauliflower, by and large. And he picked Sharkey to beat Schmelling, after watching the screaming Squire go through his first workout in Boston the other day.

Langford called the turn on Sharkey's fight with Wills, Malone, Strubling, Loughran and Scott. But the Tar-Baby refused to predict anything about the Dempsey match. Sharkey already is signed to defend the championship in 1931 if he wins this one.

And for 37 1/2 per cent of the gate. His share of the bout with Schmelling called for 27 1/2 per cent, but he waived 2 1/2 per cent for the benefit of the milk fund.

Which doesn't sound like an awful lot, but which means $25,000 if the gate goes to $1,000,000 as the more optimistic forecasters declare it will.

Sharkey says Max is a fighter something like Loughran and that he will break down the Dutchman's defense with his left and knock him cuckoo with the right.

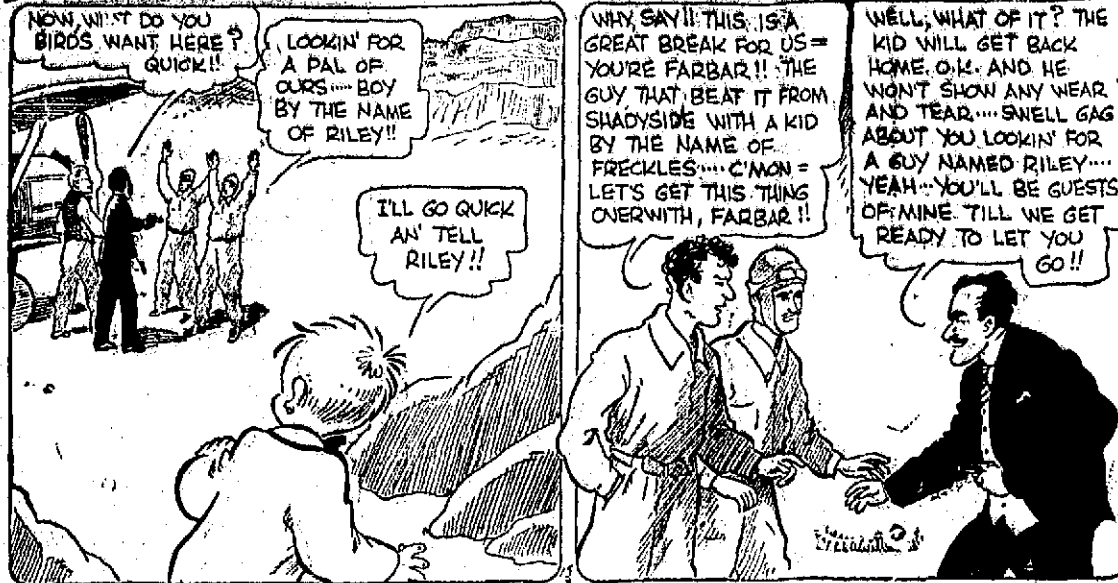

felt the stride get shorter under him.

"We saw the bat go up and Sande brought it down on Zev's flanks, just to remind him that it was still a horse race. Old Zev straightened out, and the meeting was over."

Sande was pretty badly hurt in a race in 1924 at Saratoga. There was a small opening next to the rail and Sande was trying to edge through. A young jockey, trying for the same spot, cut over in front of him. There was only room for one in the opening, and Sande, to save the kid, pulled out. A couple of horses hit him, and down he went.

The other horses went on but Sande lay crumpled on the track with a broken hip. They said he never would ride again. It took him a long time to get well. But here he is again, ready for the Derby—and you can bet that when Sande goes out there on Gallant Fox, it's going to be more than a race for the other jockeys.

Good Card Is Promised Fight Fans In Tonight's Fistic Bouts at Rink

'Panama Kid' and Johnny Hall to Stage Ten-Round Final

Fighter

"The Panama Kid" is here, and so is Johnny Hall. These two fighters are scheduled to furnish the most action in the weekly boxing show staged every Thursday night at the skating rink by promoters Leo Robbins and Robert Campbell, and which is sponsored by the American Legion post of Hope.

Hall is well known in this city as one of the best fighters to ever stage a bout in the local arena. "The Panama Kid" hails from Baton Rouge, La., where he has been engaged in prize fighting for the past four months after coming to the United States about six months ago from Havana, where he has fought in numerous bouts.

The Portorican arrived here last night, and will go through a light workout at the rink this afternoon where fight fans may have a chance to see him. Hall blew in the city yesterday morning from Little Rock, and limbered up for local fans in the arena Wednesday afternoon.

Not much is known of the Portorican here, who comes to this city to stage his initial bout before Hope fight fans, but is said to be plenty good, and hopes to be the winner in tonight's battle with Hall. If he beats this boy Johnny Hall, he will have to be "real good."

The negro fighter from Little Rock, who is the biggest drawing card for a prize fight here, recently fought "Gorilla" Jones to an eight-round draw in Memphis, Tenn., and last summer Jones battled Jackie Fields, then welterweight champion of the world, to a close decision in Los Angeles, Calif. Other leather pushers Hall has been victorious over are such fighters as Sam Bruce, Memphis; Kid Bear, Little Rock; Leo Cook, Hot Springs; Clyde Edmondson, Hot Springs.

Hall was defeated by Clarence Williams in New Orleans a few weeks ago, but since that time won a decision over the Louisiana flash in a 15-round fistic battle at Birmingham, Ala. The negro fighter's record speaks for itself, and when the Portorican meets him in the ring here tonight, much action is promised the crowd who will be in attendance.

For the opening attraction at the rink, a big battle royal is scheduled to take place, staged by fire Hope negroes. This comedy classic will be followed by several preliminary battles in which much action is anticipated.

Ed Davis, of Hope, and John Scott, of Prescott, are on the program and are matched for a four-round engagement.

The next encounter "Big Boy" Harrell, of Fulton will go on with "Power House" Riley, of Stevens, Ark., who will furnish the audience a good fight. Harrell carries a mighty wallopp.

The above picture is Johnny Hall who is scheduled to fight in the main event at the skating rink tonight.

This is evidenced by a knockout last summer in which he K.O'd a battler one Thursday night and he was until the next Monday morning waking up, Slapping 'em to sleep is nothing unusual for Harrell to do, although he is meeting a good man tonight, and will be forced to put up a great battle to win a decision.

Other good fights are on the card, and one of the biggest crowds of the season is expected when the rink opens for the weekly show tonight.

Prices have been advanced 25 cents in order to defray extra expenses brought on by the Hall-"Panama Kid" fight.

Arkansas Champ Beaten In Tourney

Clara Woolridge, of Little Rock, Loses Match at Greensboro

GREENSBORO, N. C., May 15.—(P)—For a time Wednesday youth threatened to steal the show in the Women's Southern Golf tournament here.

Helen Waring the Pinehurst star, furnished the high explosives in the second round of match play when she carried Miss Margaret Maddox, of Atlanta, the defending champion to the 20th green before yielding a grudging one-up decision to the more experienced title-holder.

The list of title eligibles is now composed exclusively of such familiar names as Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis, three-times champion in the past; Mrs. W. L. Pierce of Charlotte, last of the Carolinians, and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake of New Orleans, who, although still young in years, is a seasoned veteran of the Dixie golfing wars.

While the Atlanta champion was waging the hardest battle of her links career to remain in the picture, the other members of the South's "big four" breezed through their second rounders with a minimum of difficulty.

Mrs. W. D. Irwin of Greensboro, N. C., made it interesting for Mrs. Leon Solomon of Memphis for a time, but finally succumbed 3 to 2.

Mrs. Lake won easily from Mrs. W. H. Willard of Charlotte, N. C., 4 and 3, and Mrs. Gaut took the measure of Miss Clara Woolridge of Little Rock 3 and 1.

In defeating the Arkansas state champion, Mrs. Gaut shot the best medal round of the tournament. Her 39 for the first nine holes was several notches better than anybody else has done.

In the other championship matches Miss Anne Kennedy, of Tulsa, Okla., kept the southwest in the thick of things by defeating Mrs. E. C. Hollins of New Orleans, 6 and 5.

Mrs. L. ... an Ordwell, of Savannah, conquered Miss Deane Yul Landing-

Relief From Curse Of Constipation

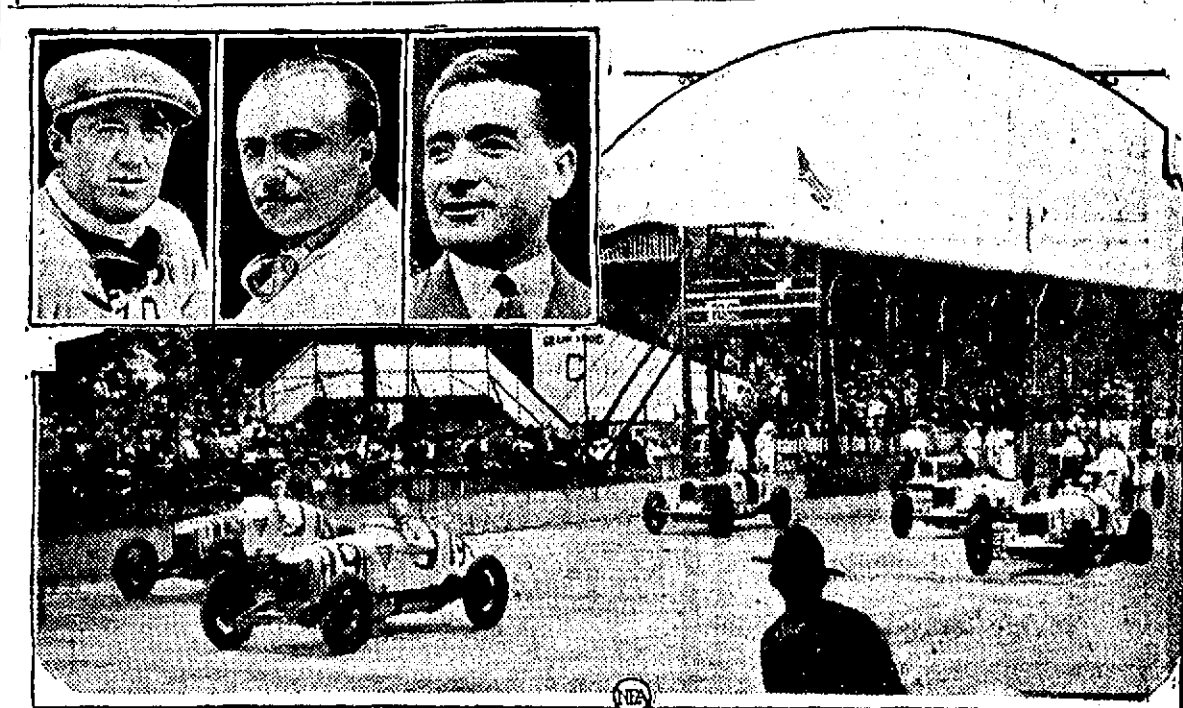

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel, called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or even increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderlie at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25c today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store. John S. Gibson Drug Co. Adv.

MIAMI, Fla., May 15.—(A)—"Scarface Al" Capone and three companions, held in jail since Tuesday night on an "investigation" charge, were released on a writ of habeas corpus signed by Circuit Judge O. Thompson at 2:30 p. m. Wednesday.

Arcadian Sulphate of Ammonia ready for immediate shipment by The Southern Cotton Oil Co., Little Rock, Ark.

RICHER YIELDS..RICHER PROFITS

from RICHER-IN-NITROGEN Sulphate of Ammonia

AT planting time use a complete fertilizer —a high-nitrogen analysis fertilizer, rich in nitrogen.

Then, when the young plants begin to feed heavily, put out a side-dressing of Sulphate of Ammonia.

Successful farmers have found that it pays, and pays big, to map out a business-like fertilizer program which includes nitrogen side-dressing—and stick to it!

Arcadian Sulphate of Ammonia contains 20.56 per cent nitrogen, guaranteed analysis—all soluble, all quickly usable by the plants. It's easy to distribute. Shipped in moisture-proof bags that keep it fine and dry until you are ready to use it.

To be sure of your supply, order Arcadian when you buy your complete fertilizer. Farmers everywhere are invited to write to The Barrett Company for helpful information on any nitrogen fertilizer problem.
